Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. E. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

BULLOCK WILL BE PROTECTED IF MADE TO RETURN TO N. C.

Negro Fighting Extradition from Canada on Grounds of Fearing Lynching.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Adequate protection will be given Matthew Bullock, negro, who is now fighting extradition from Canada, if the Canadian authorities return him to North Carolina, where he is wanted on charges of inciting to riot, Governor Morrison, of North Carolina, declaring here today.

"There is absolutely no danger of mob violence against the negro," the governor said, "but out of abundance of precaution every protection will be given when he is brought back for trial." The negro stands in absolutely no danger of being lynched, the governor added.

Governor Morrison forwarded extradition papers for the negro to the State department before leaving Raleigh last night and he does not plan to call at the State department in person, but is confident the papers will go promptly through the regular official channels to the Canadian authorities.

Seventeen others charged with Bullock in the Norfolk, N. C., riot in January of last year were apprehended and tried, and convicted without any attempt at mob violence, the governor said. When the first arrests for the riot were made, the governor declared, a small masked mob who were ready to protect the jail against possible trouble. Troops were ordered out immediately and no further signs of mob violence appeared, the governor stated.

Bullock, the negro now under arrest in Canada, was declared by the governor to be wanted on charges of having been the ring-leader in the riot. But he will be afforded every protection and there is nothing to his statement that he would be in danger of lynching if returned to North Carolina," Governor Morrison asserted.

Governor Morrison is awaiting the arrival of Chairman Fagot of the North Carolina Highway Commission. The federal authorities are going to be asked to construct good roads through the two national forests in the western part of the State.

He said, he would confer with the North Carolina senators and representatives tomorrow over this situation.

To Be Arrested in New York On Technical Charge If Deported.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 20.—Council for Matthew Bullock, the negro, who is fighting extradition to North Carolina, where he is wanted on a charge of inciting to riot, announced today they had made plans to have Bullock arrested on a technical charge in New York State in the event he is deported from Canada.

This, it was acknowledged, would prevent Bullock from being rushed through the State on the way to North Carolina and would give him opportunity to begin a new fight against extradition.

Bullock's appeal from the order of deportation issued yesterday has been placed before Acting Minister of Immigration Bostock and a decision is expected within the next few days.

To Push Goods Made In Piedmont Section Is Plan

The one great purpose of the proposed Piedmont Exposition which will be held in Danville April 1 to 8 will be to induce the people of the Piedmont section to buy goods made in their own section. Primarily it is a "buy at home" campaign and as such should appeal strongly to people of every class.

If the people of this section would purchase goods made at home such action would go a long way toward relieving unemployment. At the same time the buying public would be educated up to the fact that home-made commodities are in every way equal to commodities made in other sections. The habit of buying at home would thus be formed.

A long list of commodities produced in the Piedmont section could be given. Here are a few: Furniture, shoes, toilet goods, mattresses, cotton goods, farming implements, clothing, dairy products, lumber, plaster, brick, leather goods, heating supplies, plumbing supplies, tobacco, farm products, all kinds of foundry supplies, ice cream, cereals, etc.

The greater support that is given to home manufacturers by buying home goods is greater will be the service to this section. As an economic principle such a program is unimpeachable. The money spent in this section stays here and continues to function for the good of the section it flows and adds to the section's wealth and funds.

Election of Police Sergeant Passed By Police Com's'n

The matter of an election of a third sergeant authorized at the last meeting of the City Council, was passed on by the first meeting in March by the police commission of Danville, in session yesterday.

At the first meeting in March the election of half the police force will come up and all elections and promotions will be taken up at that meeting.

The case of Officer Talley, against whom a charge now pending for hitting Ben Elliott over the head with his club, was referred to Mayor Woodling. That the case properly comes before the mayor was the ruling of the commission as Elliott swore out a warrant against the officer, who has never been tried on this warrant.

"SHOW-DOWN" IN FAR EAST RECEIVES SERIOUS SETBACK

Final Action Postponed At the Suggestion of Japan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American proposal to lay openly before the world all the treaties and understandings that relate to China met with an unexpected setback today when it came before the Far Eastern committee of the arms conference for formal adoption.

Although such a step had been agreed yesterday "in principle," the problem of defining the exact scope of the agreement precipitated long debate, and after several changes had been made in the draft presented by the American delegation final action was postponed at the suggestion of Japan.

Meantime in another sub-division of the conference, the ground work was laid for another international gathering which some delegates seemed to regard as a partial realization of President Harding's plan for a continuing series of meetings to discuss world affairs. The sub-committee on draft, headed by Britain's Root, approved a resolution putting over a revision of the rules of warfare to a future conference, which it is contemplated shall be called by the United States in the near future.

For the first time in several weeks discussion of the Washington negotiations broke out during the day on the floor of the Senate, where a resolution was presented by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asking information about the status of the Shantung controversy. Both Senators Lodge and Underwood members of the American delegation, told their colleagues the Shantung conversations were near a conclusion and that if they failed, there seemed to be no hope of bringing the question before the conference proper.

On the naval side of the conference the situation continued unchanged, with Japan still withholding assent to the article dealing with Pacific fortifications. It developed, however, that the hitch was over inclusion of the Japanese islands of the Bonin group under the fortification "status quo" and that a difference of view had arisen between the Japanese delegates and their home government.

Discussion of the treaty publication resolution in the Far Eastern committee centered about the proposal to include in the published list of commitments the various commercial agreements entered into between Chinese authorities and private individuals abroad. Since the foreign governments are not themselves parties to these understandings, the Japanese suggested it would be difficult to make a complete compilation of them. It was said, however, the resolution open opposition to the resolution. The Japanese predicted tonight that it would be adopted.

In the view on the question of the Chinese, the commitments to foreign governments and individuals include some of the most important of those now exercising an influence in China's development. Many of the railroad and loan agreements, they say, are of that character, making a request that the resolution be of the broadest possible scope if it is to accomplish the "show down" sought by the American delegation.

Negro Minister Is Excluded By Church

At what is known as a mutual council of the negro Baptist churches of this city and vicinity, held recently at the Shiloh Baptist church in Almagro, a colored suburb of Danville, an appeal by Rev. W. M. Betts from the action of the governing body of his church in excluding him from its pastorate, the action of the church investigating charges against him, was sustained by the unanimous vote of those participating in the council. These included all the pastors and official members of the churches represented therein.

"We, your Committee on Findings, with reference to the exclusion of Rev. W. M. Betts by the Shiloh Baptist church of Almagro, do hereby submit the following findings:

"Second, that the church was perfectly justified in its action, and withdrawing the hand of fellowship.

Dr. Cook Says Vindication Sure

WORTH WORTH Tex. Jan. 20.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, when shown today the Associated Press story from Canada telling of the finding of one of his notebooks in the possession of a wanderer, declared that he had been buried by a member of his party at least 1,500 miles from where it was recovered. He said many of his books had been dug up or found and later traded in by the Eskimos. He said the man who had recovered the notebook was named Whinet Much. Other evidence of this kind on his North Pole trip will be found from time to time, he added, and said all of it would vindicate him, and sustain his claim to the Pole discovery.

Few Cars That Run Do Small Business—500 Jitneys Keep Crowded.

RICHMOND, Jan. 20.—With the street car company officials and the members of the union making reports widely at variance with the company's operating possibly twenty-five cars during the day, and with the union men operating perhaps 500 automobiles on the streets, and with the cars handling very small travel and the jitneys capacity on every trip, one can make his own estimate of the situation. The car company has succeeded in enticing two of the former union men to return to work, say the officers of the union while the company says that many more have returned.

There is a conference on regarding the matter of meeting the ultimatum of the city of Norfolk, where a demand has been made on the company to open up for arbitration by Monday morning or have the fare in that city reduced to five cents, and from all the car lines are here to discuss this phase of the matter. The council of this city has been called to meet Monday night to consider the question of the charter for the company to operate in this city. At that time the company will face the possibility of the fare here being returned to five cents.

Good order is still maintained, but the fitness has reached a stage where officers of the union while the company says that many more have returned.

W. W. Moore Is Now Critically Ill

Many friends of W. W. Moore, formerly superintendent of one group of mills in the big local textile plant who was recently forced to give up his work by reason of the serious and rapid decline in his health will doubtless learn with sorrow of the present seriousness of his condition, which may even be said to be critical. Mr. Moore has sought the best medical attention, has tried various resorts and climates and rest and recuperation, but vainly. The decline in his health has continued unchecked until his illness has reached a stage where his friends are alarmed.

Mr. Moore is one of the best known and most esteemed residents of Danville in recent years, having come hither from South Carolina. While his health justified his being diligent and efficient in his business, active in the affairs of the First Presbyterian church and in the Masonic fraternity.

Announcement was made yesterday of the marriage last Sunday at Bachelors Hall of George T. Brown and Miss Annie Lee Perkins. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Anne H. Perkins, of Wenden and is very popular in her community. The groom is a prominent young farmer of Oak Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home at Oak Hill.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Jack Quinn, veteran American League pitcher, and at one time one of the best spit-balls in the league has jumped his contract with the Boston club and signed with a local semi-professional team for the coming season.

"Boston probably soon would have sent me to the bushes," he said.

Chicago is my home, so, when this semi-professional offer came along I figured the best thing for me to do was to take it.

Arrest is Made In Harsell Death

Bill Rainwater Held in Tennessee on Charge of Killing New York Clubman.

BRISTOL, Jan. 20.—Word has been received here of the arrest of Bill Rainwater in Johnson City, Tenn., in connection with the disappearance of B. L. Harsell, who was last heard of when he left Knoxville for a trip through the mountains, preparatory to an African expedition for big game.

Rainwater was arrested by Officers Troutman and Garland, and placed in the city jail on a charge of murder. His home is said to be in Mitchell county, North Carolina, in a section known as the "Pigeon Country." The city police had received word to be on the lookout for Rainwater, and he was seen by Motorcycle Policemen Jansen, coming out a moving picture show. Rainwater first hid in the furnace room back of the Burrow building, and Jansen states that Rainwater's father was standing on the corner giving his son signals, when he saw the officers approaching.

Officers Troutman and Garland appeared on the scene, just as Rainwater ran from the furnace room, across the lot, and into a lumber shed at the back of the Braden-Sells Lumber Company plant. He was found there under a stack of lumber, taken into custody, handcuffed and brought to the city jail. Rainwater was sought some time ago as a fugitive from justice, and is said to have been a "pal" of Johnny Green.

The arrest was made on information furnished by Elmer W. Brimham, detective, formerly with a well-known agency, but now employed by Norman Harsell, of New York City, to run down the case of his missing brother, B. L. Harsell, who was last seen or heard from about the last of March, 1921. Upon a fugitive warrant for murder in this connection, Rainwater was arrested. Brimham has been working on the case for the past four months.

Early in October, 1921, some six months after the disappearance of B. L. Harsell, an author, sportsman, big game hunter, and naturalist, living in Bedford, New York, Brimham took up the trail of Harsell in an effort to locate him, or what may have become of him.

It seems that Harsell was preparing himself for a trip to Africa, in search of big game, and was making a preliminary expedition through the mountains of Southwest Virginia, Western North Carolina and Eastern Tennessee.

The search for Harsell, as told by Detective Brimham, is not a little romantic and extraordinary. Taking up the "trail" at Roanoke, Va., early in October, Mr. Brimham has traveled more than 1,500 miles by train, automobile, horseback, and on foot; covering his down into Ashe, Watauga, Boone, and Watauga counties, in Virginia; Mitchell, Jefferson, Rutherford and Avery counties, North Carolina; and the Grandfather

A statement for that county, and our petroleum emulsion with cod liver oil. Patterson Drug Co. 1-1318Rt.

Mountain, Mount Mitchell, the Great Smokies, Roan Mountain and other well-known spots.

At the Grandfather Mountain, the trail was lost, to be picked up again at Burnsville. Here, after staying overnight at a local hotel, Harsell is said to have started back toward Roan Mountain, walking, which would have carried him through the Pigeon country, or noted "bad lands." He has never been seen or heard from since.

Another link in the story is that Rainwater and a number of well-known outlaws, were operating in the Pigeon country. A number of financial incidents of their treatment of visitors to that section are told. It is one theory that Harsell innocently penetrated this section, and was killed, either out of fear that he would give information to the outside, or probably for purposes of robbery.

At Bimha states that the body has never been found; but that he has a strong chain of evidence, part of which may reveal the place of disposition of the body, permitting a discovery of at least a portion of it. Rainwater was returned by Brimham and proper local officers to Erwin, where the warrant was issued. The names of those said to have been associated with Rainwater in his blocking operations, and even as accessories in the suspected murder, would not be given out at this time.

From statements made by Brimham and local officers, it appears that the body of which Harsell was the head, numbered probably fifteen or more, and at one time included Johnny Green, no availing execution in the penitentiary at Nashville.

The detective related certain details which show that he is in possession of valuable clues and information. Among these is a rumor that Rainwater and another influential assistant leader of the band fell out, and to avoid probable serious trouble, the assistant left the place, and most probably told certain of the facts since the story is that Rainwater and as many as four others were killed in the final killing, though the shooting was said to have been done by Rainwater. This theory of Harsell's death is that he was cooking his dinner at the time, and when one shot failed to kill him, he was shot again that a pool was made into which the blood flowed and was covered up, and the body disposed of.

Certain of Harsell's clothing and effects are reported to have been retained, such as his raincoat, bearing two bullet holes, his knapsack, and probably a cane.

The hunt is said to have been recently successful, and sufficient evidence found to warrant the arrest of Rainwater, and probably others, whose general location is now known, and for whom the officers are now looking.

BELL CALLS FOR PROBE OF FORCE

forward with charges. The Bell's letter, which follows herewith, makes it possible to charge against any politician, but mentions members of the force involved in certain rumors.

"Danville, Va., Jan. 19, 1922.
Hon. Harry Wooding, Mayor.
Danville, Va.

"Dear Sir:—
In regard with what I consider to be my special duty as chief of police of this city, I hereby respectfully request that you call together the Board of Police Commissioners in executive session for the purpose of having their body make an investigation of our police force, as a whole, to determine whether or not they are doing their duty, or have been failing or neglecting in the performance of their special duties.

"This request is made in order that the truthfulness of certain rumors, causing much trouble to the city, be properly controverted, which have been recently brought to my attention, and are as much as with the view of giving to the citizens of Danville, and to the Board of Police Commissioners, the opportunity to have the police force investigated, to make the personnel of the entire force, if other should be desired.

"Respectfully,
J. R. BELL,
Chief of Police."

There appeared today to be some question about the hour of investigation, when it is finally held. Mr. Watson is understood to prefer the day, while Officer Martin is said to want the evening at a later. This will have to be determined by the commissioners. Mayor Wooding, who is chairman of the commission, said also that the commission would have to vote on the question of holding a public hearing, at which the allegations will be brought out.

The Danville Police Commission, which is now organized with an investigation which may even a wide field of investigation, is composed of Mayor Wooding, chairman, and Wardens Guy P. Walker, Wm. W. Wooding, and Wm. C. Clark. Mr. Clark is known to be a member of the force, and he will be able to present.

First Runaway Stock Market This Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Wall street experienced its first runaway stock market of the New Year today, on a bullish movement led by gold and silver and iron shares.

Buyers of these stocks derived their inspiration from reports that the Federal reserve board would probably in the near future announce a reduction of the country's money supply.

Gold shares, steel and iron shares, and other stocks, which had been held with extreme reserve, responded to the stimulus of the news, and the stock market opened with a sharp advance.

"Mystery Story" Brings Doctor's Arrest

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 21.—What was the story that Mrs. George Klein told St. Louis police about the murder of her friend, pretty Mrs. Perry Richwine?

As a result of this story, which police are guarding closely and which they say will not be disclosed until the case is before a jury, Dr. Robert H. McCracken, one of the most prominent physicians of southern Illinois, was arrested and charged with the crime.

Dr. McCracken, 55, lives in Belleville, Ill. He is a former coroner and was one time health commissioner of East St. Louis. He is now under a $40,000 bail.

The body of Mrs. Richwine, who was 25, was found lying on the dining room table by her son, Earl, when he came home from school. In one corner of the basement the boy found also the crumpled body of his grandfather, William Richwine. Both had been shot to death.

The shades throughout the house were drawn, the windows locked and shuttered. There was no evidence of a struggle.

For two weeks police clues proved fruitless. Then Mrs. Klein came forward with her story and Dr. McCracken's arrest followed.

Police declared Dr. McCracken's account of how he spent the day of the murder "unsatisfactory." He said he had gone to his office at 9 o'clock and left to go to lunch at 1. The murder occurred at noon. Dr. McCracken told Police Chief Mulcahey he did not remember the names of the patients he had treated during the morning.

Democratic Purse Turned Inside Out

National Committee in Financial Straits at Beginning of Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Democratic National Committee is in financial straits at the very beginning of a campaign for the capture of the next Congress.

The financial embarrassment is not merely a matter of old deficits, or debts left unpaid at the end of the presidential fight in 1920 or of inherited obligations. It is a matter of meeting current bills.

Cordell Hull, the new national chairman, has had little opportunity to carry out his constructive plans. He has been too busy passing the hot.

There was a hang-over debt at the close of the last national campaign, which, when he took office, George White, while he held the chairmanship, worked hard to clean up the debt and a committee was named by him to make an assessment by States. This enterprise was fairly successful, but it provided no cash for the future and the result was that Mr. Hull went into the chairmanship without means of financial support.

For weeks Mr. Hull has struggled to raise funds to meet current bills. He has managed to stave off bankruptcy proceedings and election from headquarters, and also kept his cash on hand. But that is about all. He has had little or no money to put into such campaigns as that for the senatorship in New Mexico or to all House vacancies in debatable districts.

The coming Congressional campaign is now upon the committee. Mr. Hull has plans for carrying this out, but he is without the necessary resources. He is expected, for example, to publish a mass of campaign literature, for which he is receiving requests every day. He is ready to open up a speakers' bureau and to engage in intensive organization far and wide.

But it takes money to do these things and there is no money available. Moreover, he has about exhausted the sources of party contributions here in Washington and he finds that he must turn elsewhere for sinews of war. He declared today that the party headquarters is in serious need of money if it is to function with any success during the coming months.

Mr. Hull predicts party victory in November, but he wants it understood that financial aid now would be invaluable in bringing this about. To that end he issued the following public appeal:

"Everywhere there is a revival of interest in the Democratic party and renewed enthusiasm among Democrats. The national organization can only take full advantage of its splendid opportunities if given adequate financial support to carry on its work of organization and publicity with commendable speed and efficiency. I have absolute faith in the loyalty of the rank and file of the party, and am confident that their untiring efforts and generous response in the way of contributions."

CHIROPRACTIC

Questions Answered in Plain Words

HOW WAS CHIROPRACTIC DISCOVERED?

Many of the greatest inventions and scientific discoveries have been due more or less to accident. So it was with Chiropractic. The finest Chiropractic adjustment was given in 1895 by D. D. Palmer, a magnetic healer of Eastern Iowa. Palmer had been pecking away in his office which he wanted moved, and the janitor to take it away. A couple of days passed and the box had not been moved. Palmer told him to move it again, a few more days passed, the box was still there. Finally Palmer lost patience and the child time his request in pretty strong language delivered at high pitch.

A very much to his surprise the janitor told Palmer that he had not heard his previous requests and explained that his hearing seemed to be failing. His office, and upon examination discovered a very pronounced "bump" in the upper part of the man's spine. Without and definite idea of what he was going to do and in an experimental spirit Palmer conceived the idea of trying to put the misplaced bone back into place by hand, having only a half-formed suspicion that there was some connection between the misplaced vertebrae and the hearing.

Placing the man face down on an ordinary office table he got a contact with his palm and ear it a quick thrust. There was an audible snap as the bone went back where it belonged. In an ordinary tone Palmer asked the man how he felt. He replied that both the pain in his neck and the deafness were gone. The first Chiropractic adjustment had been given. A great principle had been discovered.

Fully realizing the vast significance of his discovery, Palmer began an exhaustive study of the human body, the spine and the nervous system. Together with his son, H. J. Palmer, he founded a school for imparting such knowledge as they themselves possessed and obtaining more by study, research and exchange of experience and opinion, so that the largest school of chiropractic in the world. Graduates of this school went out into the field, they started schools of their own, so that today there are about sixty schools of Chiropractic in the United States alone. Some of these schools teach pure straight Chiropractic but many of them have wandered a long way off the path.

Of the sixty there are probably a dozen that really teach Chiropractic as discovered. The result is two classes of Chiropractors, the "straight" and the "mixers." And there will be war between these two factions as long as there are any mixers left, which we hope to see soon. During the long period of development that has brought Chiropractic to the place it occupies today no substitute or auxiliary has been discovered which has actually proved of any value. Adjustment of the spine, by hand, and without any medicines or canyons has been found self sufficient in cases of every kind.

In the first place we impressed upon you the fact that the discovery of Chiropractic was somewhat of an accident. This was done for a purpose. There are two classes of "discovering" things. One is to stumble upon them unexpectedly, the other is to form a theory and then search heaven and earth for something to back it up.

There is a vast difference between the two. The man with a theory is predisposed to start with. He is bound to believe anything contrary to the theory and to enlarge the importance of anything that seems to support it. A man who is not honest with himself cannot possibly be honest with the world. The result is that our medical friends have fallen into the way of going very largely upon vague theories which sound reasonable enough when presented in a good theory but often fail to effect a cure. They believe a good thing things that they don't know, and these beliefs have led to a lot of mistakes.

Chiropractic philosophy takes nothing for granted. Everything is done on the "same old" principle. If a Chiropractor tells you he can restore an insane person to a normal state of mind it is because he knows it has been done and can be done again. And the same applies to a million other things.

D. D. Palmer's dead but Chiropractic will never die. Ten thousand people are practicing Chiropractic in the United States today. Palmer gave humanity a solution to its health problem and today this principle is being applied in every corner of the earth. Sixty schools teaching it. Tens of thousands owe their very life to it. Hundreds of thousands are still who would otherwise be cripples or invalids, and millions take adjustments regularly in order to act well and keep well. When we see how far this science has gone in twenty-five years the mind is unable to even begin what another quarter of a century may bring forth.

Next Saturday Bee and Sunday's Register: "Does Chiropractic Support Surgery?"

NOTE.—Readers are invited to ask any question they wish in connection with Chiropractic, and the answer to the question will appear in these columns at an early date. Direct all inquiries by mail, phone or personal call to

COAL PRODUCERS FINISH AND STEEL MEN MAKE PLEAS

Argue for Lower Freight Rates Before I. C. C. on Friday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Coal producers complete their arguments in favor of lower freight rates before the Interstate Commerce commission today, and gave away to representatives of the steel industry, the second in the list to be taken up in the general investigation into transportation rate levels. Robert Hula, for iron and steel manufacturers, of the Chicago district, presented the general conclusion that "present freight rates are a burden which has undoubtedly contributed to the existing depression in industry." He expressed the opinion that the commission should protect the earning power of the railroads, but declared that next to coal, steel was the commodity which should be considered in any rate reductions found possible. Throughout the discussion of coal rates, the commission and experts participating sought facts as to impending wage reduction, and possibilities of a strike about April 1. J. D. A. Morone, vice president of the National Coal Association, was recalled for cross-examination, and questioned as to the possibility of a national coal strike at the time. He replied that he made it his business to know nothing about the labor side of the industry, but added that the operators expected wages to be cut then. W. J. Thompson, secretary of the Anthracite Producers' Association, followed with the statement that "present prices of domestic anthracite are too high for the average consumer to pay," and that "railroad and mine wage cuts would be effective after April 1," he said, but the anthracite producers, although "gravely doubting" that general rate reductions would restore general prosperity, considered that freight charges on their products should be lowered more nearly to the existing basis for bituminous transportation.

WARRANTS ARE ISSUED IN B. L. HARSELL CASE ASHEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 20—Latest developments in the mysterious disappearance of Blaise L. Harsell, of Bedford, wealthy clubman who has been missing since last April, includes the issuance of warrants for several men charged with the murder of Harsell and the arrest of "Bill" Hancock, the Detective Elmer W. Loom, of Virginia, who has placed the "killed" slayer in jail at Elwell, Tenn., where he is being detained pending receipt of extradition papers from Governor Morrison of this state.

Arbuckle Offered To Pay Miss Rappe's Hospital Expenses

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20—Romeo C. Arbuckle offered to pay the expenses of Miss Virginia Rappe, including the bills of physicians who attended her. It was testified today in Arbuckle's second trial on a manslaughter charge arising from the girl's death. The testimony was given by Harry Boyle, assistant manager of the Hotel St. Francis, where, the prosecution contends, the girl was injured fatally by Arbuckle during a party in the comedian's room. Boyle said he was called to the Arbuckle suite, being a party there and was told by Arbuckle that "a lady was in a bad way, one of the rooms tearing her clothing off." He visited the room and found Miss Rappe "practically unconscious," he testified. Other witnesses today were Al Semmacher, manager of motion picture enterprises engaged in by Miss Rappe and Jesse Norgaard, former night-watchman at a Culver City, Cal., motion picture studio used by both Arbuckle and Miss Rappe.

Miners Will Ask For Wage Increase

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 20—The District wage convention of the United Mine Workers of the anthracite fields today decided to ask the operators for a twenty per cent increase in wages for contract miners and an increase of a dollar a day for tonight's session the convention adopted a demand providing for a standard check system and also accepted all other demands of the scale committee. The committee instructed the scale committee to perfect arrangements providing for a suspension of mining on April 1 in the event that no satisfactory agreement had been reached on a new contract to take the place of the present one, which expires March 31. There was no serious opposition to the 10 per cent increase adopted on the proposition to take effect April 1. The action taken by the convention will be referred to the international convention which meets at Indianapolis Feb. 1. International President John L. Lewis said to the delegates while the debate on the demands was under way that it can be assumed that the international body will ratify the expressed wishes of the anthracite miners. The convention which began sessions Tuesday adjourned sine die after adopting a resolution welcoming Ireland to the family of nations.

POPE, RALLYING IS IN RESTFUL SLEEP

(Continued from page one) tion as the physicians desired in consequence of an immense accumulation of phlegm which at times threatened suffocation. The pneumonia is described as being of the suppurating or pus type. Through all his sufferings the mind of the pontiff remained bright and he is described as being exceedingly cheerful and untroubled of heart. It pleases the Lord that his will work again for his church, he said, "I have done" the pope said early Friday evening as the cardinal, were withdrawing from the sick chamber after having paid him a visit. Throughout the early hours of the evening the pope was reported to have been fairly comfortable but as the midnight hour approached he became restless. He found difficulty in breathing and even again was administered. The effort to relieve the pontiff was what. During the day the pope received extreme unction and the holy sacrament was administered. A large number of the cardinals and members of the pontifical corps attached to the Vatican came to the pope's bedside in the early morning hours but he was no better for they were, said Dr. Marchisiani. At the cardinals of the Curia remained at the Vatican throughout the afternoon, and this evening a large number of them were present in the ante-chamber to the sick room. As each cardinal passed about through the sick room, he wore an extremely anxious look. Bishops and priests looked about asking for information as to the condition of the pope. At the cardinals concurred in the opinion that there was a ray of hope, and that the condition of the patient was most desperate. Although his breathing continued difficult, the fact that the pope was able to throw off the weight of his position and his long illness was a sign of the pontiff's recovery. The hope was occupied by the pontiff is the same as that used by Pope Pius X. The window opening on the square of Peter's square, overlooking the whole of Rome. The bed-room of the pope is the last but one from the corner. The corner room, now a small chapel, was the death chamber of Pius X. The room where Benedict lies ill is simply furnished. There are a few paintings on the walls and a crucifix above the bed. It contains gold-framed chairs upholstered in red damask, and a small table near the bed. Among the cardinals of the Curia who remained in the Vatican throughout the afternoon and during the evening was Vincent Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College. He said that at a time like this the death of the holy father would be a great calamity. From time to time he left the other members of the Sacred College in the ante-chamber and entered the sick room to bring back the latest news to his colleagues. When the great specialist, Dr. Marchisiani, proclaimed that there still was a thread of hope for the recovery of the pope, an humble fear of the "do good brethren" who have been attending the pope throughout his illness, was never more sanguine. "During my lifetime work among the sick and poor I have seen no recover who looked worse than does the pontiff. To me he does not show the appearance of being a desperate case." When Dr. Marchisiani left the sick chamber this evening he wished the pope good night. Benedict smiled and replied: "I accept this as a happy augury." The pontiff's voice however was hoarse, and it was with difficulty that he spoke. During the evening the Marquis Della Chiesa was admitted to the sick chamber. Pope Benedict asked his nephew to pray for him and the marquis replied that the whole world was praying.

Announcement!

The Leeland Motor Company announces to the Citizens of Danville, Va., and the counties of Pittsylvania and Halifax that they are the sole dealers and representatives of the famous "Bulldog" Mack Trucks. In our connection with the International Motor Company of New York as their representatives we feel that a new and valuable service is available to owners and prospective purchasers of motor truck equipment in this territory. The MACK is distinctly an engineered truck—manufactured entirely in three great factories located at Allentown, Pa., Plainfield, N. J., and New Brunswick, N. J. These are supplemented by the Engineering, Experimental, Special Equipment and Service Departments and the largest exclusive motor truck service station in the United States—all housed in a spacious building in New York City. Had the manufacturers of the Mack Truck, at any time divided its interests during its career now in its 22nd year, it would not have been possible to reach the position it holds today in the Motor Truck world. The most important result of this far-reaching achievement through years of specialization is the creation of a firm bond of confidence between manufacturer and owner—a bond that could not otherwise possibly exist. Detailed specifications and a thorough description of its many exclusive features are given in Catalogs Nos. 15 and 41 which can be had by applying to the address below. Essex Coach $1345 F.O.B. Detroit

To See It is to Want It

The Price Makes It Easy

All want such advantages as the Essex Coach combines. They were beyond most pockets in the past. This new type gives them in full measure—at little more than the cost of the open models. Is it any wonder the Coach met such instant success? Or that its first welcome has steadily grown? Prior to the Essex Coach, consider what a buyer could get around $1400. He had the choice of a closed car without distinction and little performance ability. If he wanted better performance he had no choice at that price except an open car. The Coach now couples the beauty, comfort and luxury of an unusually fine closed body, with the exceptional reliability and performance of the well-proved Essex chassis. But it does not mean greatly added price. And it continues the savings of its first cost in its economy of fuel, oil and tires, as well as small cost of upkeep. Come see the Coach. You will surely want it. Price is now no bar to owning the fine quality, performance and distinction that heretofore cost more than most men wanted to pay.

Has These Fine Car Details

- Dash controlled ventilator. Wind and rainproof windshield. Fine quality plate glass windows. Sun visor. Luggage and tool locker, opened from rear. Newest type easy operating crank-handle lifts on door-windows. Four hinges on each door, and struts that hold doors solid—very important. Fine stature, long wearing upholstery and rug. ## HENRY FORD HOPES FOR SPEEDY ACTION ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Great Chemical Combine Is Opposing Fertilizer Project.

FLORENCE, Ala., Jan. 20.—Henry Ford hopes for speedy action by Congress on his proposed to lease and operate the power and nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals and is "prepared to formulate a definite plan for the fertilizer question of the future."

The telegram was read tonight at a banquet here in honor of the delegates and came at the close of a day in which the conference had declaration work on the government's property at Muscle Shoals necessary for providing ample fertilizer for American farms. The telegram follows:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of the large volume of letters and telegrams urging me to accept your invitation to the conference of the farm interest at Muscle Shoals. These letters from farmers of many states are significant of the tremendous possibilities for public benefit which center around Muscle Shoals. After careful consideration I have reached the conclusion that the interests of the conference and that for which it stands can be served best by meeting you at the conference. I am hoping for speedy action and am prepared to formulate a definite plan for the fertilizer question of the future. Please send my best wishes for the success of your conference and for the prosperity of the American farmer."

An inspection that carried the delegates to every part of the dormant war project resulted in an expression of sentiment that the nitrate plants are capable of turning out sufficient fertilizer ingredients to supply a large part of the farms of America.

The delegates announced that they would proceed from Florence to Washington to attend the national agricultural conference which will find out on Muscle Shoals would be presented.

The group meeting was attended by representatives from 13 states, California and Colorado being among those sending delegates. Each of the Southern states registered delegates, others came from the corn and wheat belts of the Mississippi valley.

In an address before the conference, Gray Silver, Washington representative of the farm bureau declared that ammonia can be made in the Muscle Shoals plants "more surely, more cheaply and more economically than it can be made from Chilean nitrate in the soil."

Mr. Silver declared that "a great chemical combine" which had "for years been selling the farmer pigs in bags" was opposing Henry Ford's proposal to lease and operate the Muscle Shoals plants. The chemical interests, he said, had "some strong supporters in the by-product coke people."

Mr. Silver named also aluminum manufacturers and packers among others "opposing Henry Ford and his plan to help the farmer."

Mention of the Detroit manufacturer's name brought prolonged applause.

Stillman Fights To Prevent Paying Expenses of Wife

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—James A. Stillman's fight to have little Guy Stillman adjudged illegitimate was intensified today in the appellate division of the supreme court.

The banker's counsel repeated charges that Mrs. Anne U. Stillman had miscondemned herself with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide who, Mr. Stillman contends, is the father of Guy. Love messages purported to have passed between Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais were introduced.

Counsel for Mr. Stillman declared his wife had never denied the charge that the child is illegitimate and answered her recent predilections that Guy's good name would be upheld in court by saying her defense had not shown reasonable probability of success.

The action today was on an appeal from an order which would have Mr. Stillman provide $7,500 to meet the expenses of a hearing in the divorce suit at Montreal. The court reserved decision. At the Montreal hearing Mrs. Stillman planned to summon Canadians to testify that agents for her husband bribed and sought to bribe witnesses to testify that she violated her marriage vows.

Mr. Stillman's lawyers said the banker had paid Mrs. Stillman $122,000 in the last nine months without a murmur, and it was now time to call a halt.
